

Information for Authors

The Editors and Publisher of The American Journal of Surgery® invite concise original articles. The Principal Author of the paper will receive the official invitation from Editorial Manager, on behalf of MSA, with access to upload your manuscript by Friday, July 17th at 11:59pm CDT. For questions, please email msa@j-p-etc.com

Please follow instructions and guidelines below as you prepare your submission:

1. Manuscripts should be formatted as a WORD document (Double-spaced, Times New Roman, size 12 pitch with 1 inch margins)
2. Papers must limit the manuscript (starting with the title page as page 1, abstract page as page 2, then text and references pages) to a maximum of 10 pages, excluding tables/figures, key words and summary sentences for table of contents.
 - a. NEW - No more than 4 tables, figures, or combination thereof, will be considered.
 - b. There should be no more than 12 references.
3. Number all pages, beginning with the title page
4. The style of writing should conform to acceptable English usage. Readability is a factor in the acceptance of all papers. Strive to enlighten, not to impress. Avoid medical jargon, unnecessary wordiness, and overlong sentences.

ABSTRACTS must consist of four paragraphs labeled: Background, Methods, Results, Conclusions. No abstract should exceed 150 words. This may be shorter than the abstract length originally submitted to the program committee and thus may need to be rewritten for publication in the American Journal of Surgery.

GENERAL GUIDELINES: Round off tenths of percents to whole numbers. Never reference individual patients (e.g., patient 1, 2, 3, etc., or 45-year-old man, etc.) in the text or tables. Subtitles and abbreviations detract from the title of the manuscript and will not be permitted. Do not use acronyms and abbreviations within the text, except for units of measure. Use generic names of drugs; the brand name may be included in parentheses at first mention.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT or potential conflicts of interest should be acknowledged by all authors and editorial reviewers. If such a conflict is recognized, the reviewer will be excused from the review process and another assigned.

INFORMED CONSENT: Papers describing research involving human subjects should state in the Methods section that informed consent was obtained from the patients and approval was obtained from the designated review board of the institution involved.

COVER PAGE LETTER: Manuscripts must be accompanied by a cover page letter from the author who is responsible for correspondence regarding the manuscript, including the email address. The letter should contain a statement that the manuscript has been seen and approved by all authors and the material is previously unpublished.

FIGURES: Only illustrations that increase the understanding of the text should be submitted. Figures should be submitted online along with the manuscript. Only high-quality computer-generated figures will be considered. Radiographs must be of extremely high quality to reproduce adequately and generally should be enhanced with arrows, etc. Color reproduction costs must be separately paid by the author if color illustrations are accepted ($650 for the first color figure; $100 for each additional color figure).

All figures must be mentioned in the text in consecutive order. The Editor reserves the right to limit the number of illustrations.

LEGENDS must be typed, double-spaced, on a separate sheet rather than attached to the figures. Legends for photomicrographs should indicate the magnification and the method of straining.

PERMISSION to reproduce photographs of patients whose identity is not disguised must be sent with the manuscript. If an illustration has been published previously, the author must obtain the written permission of the author and publisher and send a copy of the permission with the manuscript.

TABLES should supplement rather than duplicate the text. Tables that repeat information in the text will be omitted. Each table should have a title and be typed, double-spaced, without horizontal or vertical lines on 8 ½ x 11-inch paper. Tables should be numbered consecutively with roman numerals in the order of first mention in the text. Define all abbreviations in a footnote.

STATISTICAL evaluation of data is encouraged, and the specific method should be referenced. Authors may wish to review Yancey JM. Ten rules for reading clinical research papers. AM J Surg. 1990; 159:533-539.

REFERENCES must follow the general arrangement and punctuation outlined in: International Committee of Medical Journal Editors Uniform requirements for manuscripts submitted to biomedical journals. Ann Intern Med, 1988;108:258-265 or Br Med J. 1988;296:401-405. They should be typed, double-spaced, on a separate sheet. Number the references (within brackets) in the order that they are first mentioned. Only references that are mentioned in the text should be listed. Use the Index Medicus style for abbreviations of journal titles. List all authors if there are four or fewer; for five or more authors, list the first three and add "et al." All authors are responsible for the accuracy of their references.

Journal article: Cullen JJ, Eagon JC, Dozois EJ, Kelly KA. Treatment of acute postoperative ileus with octreotide. AM J Surg, 1993;165:113-120.

Book: Fry DE. Multiple System Organ Failure. St. Louis: Mosby-Year Book, Inc.; 1992.

Chapter in book: Zucker KA, Bailey RW. Diagnostic and therapeutic laparoscopy for the general surgeon. In: Polk HC Jr, Gardner B, Stone HH, eds. Basic Surgery. 4th ed. St. Louis: Quality Medical Publishing; 1993:95-121.

For references to articles in press, please supply the name of the journal and, if available, the volume number and year. References to unpublished material, including written (not verbal) personal communications, should be included parenthetically in the text.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS: Footnotes of acknowledgment to individuals for help received are not published. Such acknowledgment should be made directly to the individual involved or, if the contribution warrants, the person should be made a co-author.

REPRINTS: Price schedules and order cards for reprints are e-mailed (or sent via post, if necessary) to each reprint author at the time an article is accepted for publication.
